BLOC PERSONNEL IN THE CONGO

- A. There now are 200-300 bloc personnel--mostly Soviet--in the Congo. As many as 100 additional Soviet personnel may arrive shortly. Flight crews and ground crews are estimated as:

6 IL-18 transports	30 -- 40
11 IL-14 transports	94 -- 83
5 AN-12 transports	25 -- 83 (en route)
	149 -- 236 (all Soviets)

Medical teams:

Soviet	20 -- 30
Czech	20 -- 38
East German	15 -- 20
	55 -- 78

Truck technicians:

8 -- 20

Diplomatic and press personnel:

20 -- 40

TOTAL

232 -- 304

In addition, Poland has offered a 20-man technical and engineering team. The other satellites have offered smaller numbers of various specialists.

BLOC LOGISTIC SUPPORT OF THE CONGO

- B. At Lumumba's [REDACTED] meeting with Soviet ambassador Kuznetsov in New York in late July, Soviet arms aid to the Congo was discussed, but there is no conclusive evidence that bloc arms have yet been brought into the Congo. However, small amounts of light weapons could have been covertly introduced; most of the bloc aircraft, when arriving in the Congo, landed first at Stanleyville--Lumumba's stronghold.

[REDACTED] State Department has obtained photographs of Czech weapons in Leopoldville, but these photographs are not presently available nor have they been reported via State channels. A recent AP item claims the Congolese troops guarding Lumumba's house are armed with brand new Czech rifles and submachine guns.

25X1C

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] Rumors suggest arms were loaded in Egypt.

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] would bring the number of aircraft flights from the Bloc to the Congo to 28. The [REDACTED] re-ports they appear to be heavily loaded. Moscow's concern over their flight to the Congo may suggest they are carrying military supplies.

25X1B

In addition to the six Soviet IL-18s now operating in the Congo, five other bloc IL-18s--three Soviet and two Czech--have also delivered food, medical supplies and personnel, both medical and diplomatic. One of these aircraft made two trips to the Congo from the USSR. These five planes have since returned to their home bases.

Two Soviet merchant ships--the Leninogorsk and the Arkhangelsk--have called at the Congo. The former carried 9,000 tons of wheat, 1,000 tons of sugar, and 300,000 cans of milk. Most of the wheat was not unloaded because of the unavailability of milling facilities. The ship, therefore, has had to go to Dakar to have the wheat processed and bagged and probably will return to the Congo later this month.

[REDACTED]
The Soviet Union reportedly has offered economic aid to the Lumumba government. The nature of the offer is not yet known, however, the USSR undoubtedly is capable of supplying technical assistance and development capital. The Congo's need for mining engineers and agronomists can easily be satisfied by the Soviet Union. Soviet development credits may well be offered in return for Congolese copper--a commodity the USSR must import--other minerals and industrial diamonds. A Czech economic mission reportedly is due to arrive shortly also to negotiate an aid agreement with Lumumba.
